Brotherhood Favors War Memorial Pool

The Northfield Brotherhood elected a new slate of officers at their last meeting of the season, with W. W. Sanderson being named as president, Bernard Whitney, as vice-president, Unto Hantunen, secretary, and Hubert Eastman, treasurer.

Edgar J. Livingston, who recently resigned as local Boy Scout Troop Committee Chairman after some 15 years of service in that work, spoke to the men and expressed the concern that unless something was done immediately to secure a chairman for that group, scouting in town would suffer a serious setback.

E. M. Powell, retiring president then asked for volunteers to form a committee to work out a solution to this problem, with the following committee being formed: W. W. Sanderson, Ralph Sargent, Unto Hantunen, Robert Barnes and William Eitel of Mt. Hermon. This committee is scheduled to meet in the immediate future.

Harland P. Williams was guest of the evening and he spoke briefly about the importance of the father and son relationship, and urged both fathers and sons to work and play together. Williams then astounded and amused the large group of youngsters as well as oldsters with his routine of magic and legdemain.

The Brotherhood also went on record during the formal business meeting favoring the establishment of the proposed swimming pool and recreation area as a War Memorial.

More Land Offered For Swimming Pool

Additional information has been issued concerning the proposed swimming pool and recreation area which supplements the report printed in the PRESS last week.

As was noted last week the price for the land, a little over six acres, was $2000. This amount of land would afford sufficient space for a pool, a parking area and a small picnic location.

Stanley Bistrek, owner of the land, has made another offer to the town through the swimming pool committee. This offer would provide thirty acres for $8000. The original offer of slightly more than six acres for $2000 is included in this offer.

The 30 acre site would provide expanded areas for greater development as a general recreation area, as well as a swimming pool.

The total cost of the Pool project, if a total of 30 acres were purchased to include a recreation area as a War Memorial Park, would be $17,095. Broken down it would include: $8,000 for the land; $240 for a life guard for an 8 week period; diving board $45; bath house, $1,250; rest rooms, $500; Concrete, $3,860; reinforced steel, $500; valves and pipes $450; Trench and earth excavation, $2,250.

These figures, it must be realized are estimates made as comparative figures and are necessarily high for they were not made as part of a competitive bid.

More Help Needed For Scout "Little House"

Work is progressing on the Girl Scout "Little House" in Northfield for which over $850 was raised in a drive last November. The site chosen is behind the Missionary Cottages on Main street. Adequate space for play, a wide view to the river and nearness to the public schools make the situation ideal.

The area has been cleared off and an old cellar hole put to use. This will make a basement for the building possible. Volunteers, workers have put in the footing and are now building forms for the foundation. Mr. Fred Kelley of the Northfield Sand and Gravel Co., has generously donated the cement for the footing and foundation and Mr. Leonard Stebbins has given his time for driving the cement mixer and pouring the cement.

Charles Repeta, Mr. Robert Abbott, Mr. Paul Thompson, Mr. Harold Briesmaster, Mr. Albert Raymond and Mr. Benjamin R. Andrews, Jr., have been working on the house in their free time. Mr. Repeta, chairman of the Materials Committee and Mr. Abbott, Chairman of the Building Committee report that more help is urgently needed. They ask all interested men, and especially those who volunteered to help at the time of the drive, to contact them. They hope to work each evening and on Saturdays and Sundays from now on. The speed with which the building can be built and the date when the Brownies and Scouts can move in depends directly upon the amount of help available.

Vernon Church Plans For August Auction

On Thursday, May 12, there was a meeting of committee members representing or connected with the organizations of C. A. Church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Racine, South Vernon. Mr. Kendall arranged and was in charge of the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan for a bazaar and auction to raise funds for repairs, etc., to the church and parsonage, in Vernon, Vt.

It was decided to have this affair on Wednesday, August 17, commencing late in the afternoon. The highlight of the occasion will be the auction. In this respect all townfolk will be called upon for assistance. Members of the church will call upon them with the hope of receiving articles for the auction.

It will be an opportunity for families to "dive into their attics" or other "haunts" where they might find some furniture, clothing, dishes, glassware, tools, toys, etc., they have discarded or no longer have use for. The articles need not be new, but in fair condition and saleable. Any type of miscellaneous article will be acceptable. Further reports of committee meetings will be published to keep folks mindful of this occasion and to give them an opportunity to be prepared to see the solicitor and the truck later on to remove the merchandise donated.

More People Will Be Able To See Parade

Plans are going ahead for the most colorful of Memorial Day parades in many years, featuring the newly formed Turners Falls Band. This 80 piece band, newly uniformed and complete with drum major, will lead the line of march. The parade will begin at Pine street in East Northfield, at 10 a. m., Monday, May 30, proceeding down Main street, with stops at the Mill brook and the High School, for ceremonies, then for the usual services at the Center Cemetery.

The Memorial Day committee, headed by Tom Hurley, has made plans to decorate all veterans' graves in Northfield.

The procession will include contingents from both veterans organizations, the V. F. W. and the American Legion posts, as well as their auxiliaries; a color guard, a firing squad, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, local fire equipment.

The committee has urged that all veterans in town join the parade whether or not they belong to either of the veterans' groups. Main street will be closed to traffic during the parade, with detours arranged so that traffic may continue without delay.

The principal speaker for the services will be announced shortly. It is anticipated that a well known public figure will appear for the service.

The Rev. Lester White of Mt. Hermon will serve as chaplain, with Bill Huber as marshal of the parade.

BULK SHIPMENT ARRIVES SAFELY AT DESTINATION IN CAMIERS ON MAY 5

A recent letter from the Mayor of Camiers, France, reports the arrival of the 1000 lb. bulk shipment at the railroad station in their village on May 5. The ship carrying the three large wooden crates of cloth ing and school supplies donated by Northfield friends left New York on April 15.

Upon arrival of the crates the Mayor called the local "Northfield-Camiers Comite" together to plan for the distribution of the contents. There has been no report of the condition of the goods, or if anything was missing. The crates were insured from New York to Camiers.

The departure of one or more local people for France and Camiers early this summer will insure better and more complete arrangements for further shipments in the fall and winter, for it is anticipated that the Northfield visitors to Camiers will have opportunities to observe the results of the adoption at first hand, and to report the actual needs of the villagers.

The Mayor further assured the PRESS of a complete report on the distribution of the material contained in the latest shipment. The Mayor also added that the villagers are preparing a small return shipment of French newspapers and magazines for the local school children and other interested residents.

Turtle Speeds Across Highland Ave. Again

The man in charge of the "turtle" department for the PRESS reports that Thomas the Turtle (or is it Myrtle the Turtle) crossed Highland avenue, in the vicinity of the William Marshall home, on its annual pilgrimage from the swamp to the Connecticut River.

This year it is a little early for it crossed the street about the middle of July in 1948. This annual trek has been noted by Highland avenue turtle lovers for the past 15 years.

The aging turtle, of the Chelydra serpentina variety, is said to be well over the century mark in years.

"Old Wells"

It may be noted that the Selectmen of Greenfield have taken action in order that proper supervision be exercised over abandoned wells, old cesspools, etc., so that tragedy would not strike in unexpected places.

It may be assumed that local residents will take similar action in properly overseeing their own abandoned wells and cesspools.

"Positive Thinking"

It may be noted here that the week of May 21 to 30 is Park and Recreation Week, and is being appropriately celebrated in those towns and cities that operate and maintain parks and recreation areas. Obviously that is one celebration Northfield can pass over.

Speaking of pools — the city of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, began a program in 1931 that today has provided the metropolitan area of that city with eight outdoor pools.

All of these pools have been supported in part by revenue taken in from the operation of the pool: fees, rentals, etc.

This same principal could be applied locally when plans are consummated for the establishment of a pool and recreation area. There is the possibility that all the money required for the yearly maintenance of a pool can be derived from money earned in various ways at the pool. The yearly maintenance of the pool, as reported in the Swimming Pool report, is $500.

Positive thinking to overcome negative attitudes will go far in making a local swimming pool a reality.

As the Parks and Recreation magazine puts it, "To make more abundant facilities for a more expressive life for all."

Swimming Pool

The loons of the North Country are not seen in Northfield. These diving birds live near lakes in Maine and Canada, and their characteristic of disappearing under the water in a flash has baffled many an observer. If these loons were sporting about on the Connecticut River, I would have an easier time with this attempt to compare them with some citizens of Northfield, who are ducking the issue on the swimming pool question.

I have talked to many townspeople to become better acquainted with their opinions of the plan to build a swimming pool, and have found considerable favorable reaction. Will these people stay with the idea when the going gets tough? Now is the time to stand up and be counted. Now is the time the Swimming Pool Committee needs your support.

The mention of dollars and cents in connection with the proposal is causing many to do a disappearing act, just as the loon of the North disappears when frightened. Yet these same people are quick to take advantage of other investment opportunities or a good buy at the market (even the Wall Street market).

Financing a swimming pool and recreation area can be accomplished in several ways, besides through the use of the Post-War Rehabilitation Fund (page 24, 1948 Annual Town Report). If the Swimming Pool Committee could present figures to show the yearly cost to the individual of the various financial arrangements, the total sum would seem less formidable.

The taxpayer (the one who pays and pays), and the indirect taxpayer (who also pays and pays), are now challenged to create a major improvement in town. We should try to hold the town residents we now have by making Northfield a better place in which to live. "For Sale" signs are beginning to appear on properties in Northfield. We should try to attract new residents and taxpayers not watch them settle down in other areas.

Let's not hear any more of "I am in favor, but!" Let's leave out the "But!" A swimming pool and recreation area in Northfield will be an asset to the community, and a good investment for years to come.

Depressing Thoughts

This week I have the following to offer those who enjoy depressing thoughts. "Living is the only fatal malady; it gets us all down in the end" — from the book by Howard Spring, "There is no Armour." And a cheerier (?) note from the Recorder-Gazette: "It is better to be lonely than dead, for death is so permanent." Fortunately, we in Northfield, surrounded by the beauty of spring, can lightly brush aside such philosophy.

VIVID RECOLLECTION

by Phil Porter

The day for adventure finally broke upon me. It was somewhat different than the bright and crisp weather which had just preceded, but I thought little of it, except that one could feel the warmth and humidity of a belated Indian summer day as the sun maneuvered into position where he would be most effective. I spent the remaining daylight hours in seclusion and silent meditation.

The barometer had fallen steadily during late afternoon and was still on a downward trend as I watched the sun disappear behind the western hills.

I saw the gray dusk approaching. I sensed the darkness closing in around me. I felt chilly when it whipped me in the face and swayed the tree tops perceptibly. A murkiness which was brewing overhead showed evidence of an approaching storm; but for all that, and with only a few more hours until midnight, I lay on my bed for a little rest and a final checkup on the plans before me.

Strange as it may seem I fell asleep but the dangers involved in the undertaking still persisted in haunting me, even as I went down the stairs and into the threatening night. It was ten-thirty as I stepped from the porch and looked at the clouds above me. The wind had increased to gale proportions, driving the clouds before it and presenting a most unusual sight.

The crazy moon which was no bigger than a section of orange rode the clouds, dove under the clouds and went above the clouds and hid behind the clouds. The old man in the moon was part and parcel of all these tricky demonstrations; and he appeared to be having a gay old time of it as he lay on his back, hands under his head, knees drawn up, and one leg loosely slung over the other. He was grinning from ear to ear and appeared to be showing off as he rode the merry-go-round with the greatest of ease and comfort. The clouds were cutting a swath directly from west to east and were hurrying to get away from the treacherous erous wind and other disturbances.

The velocity of such a wind in the dead of night can create all manner of spookish noises; and so it was that night. Pine trees moaned and whispered one to another, and I visualized the old witch riding high as she clasped the broom handle in one hand and waived defiance with the other.

As I passed the incomplete Chat-eau a piece of canvas which was attached to a staking pole flapped more violently than the wings of a yearling rooster. Finally it gave way to the elements and came to the ground with a thud and flop.

When I approached the Warwick brook at the foot of Schell hill a black object slithered down the embankment and with a plop and a splash hid itself completely in the dark waters below. I stood on the bridge for a moment; but there was nothing to be seen or heard except the ripple of the water as it raced over stones and under the bridge to the river.

Further along the route the faint tinkling of a small bell and a sound not unlike a chain scraping over a ledge came to my ears. Presently something moved towards me and stopped; it came a little closer, then stopped again and lowered its head to the ground. I was puzzled for the moment to know what to do or what to expect. Soon I discovered it was nothing more than a neighbor's calf which had broken from his moorings and was roaming about in search of food, his mouth seemed to be filled with vegetation as he gave me the bovine salute.

Up to the present I had not been disturbed too much by these uncanny experiences; but I did on no occasion look over my shoulders and also began to whistle several familiar lines for company.

Branches of all trees rubbed against each other incessantly in the strong wind. It was like a plaintive noise, much like the sound of a domestic cat sitting on the door step on a cold and blustery night begging for admittance.

THE "SQUEEZE" BOX

(Letters should be limited to 400 words or less. All letters must be signed by the writer - the name will not be used if you so desire.)

To The Editor: Here is my column for the week. It is without a title for the moment. Any suggestions by PRESS readers will be appreciated.

M. P. G.

When people congregate for forums, in small groups, or whenever one contemplates alone to ponder over the question of ONE WORLD, the reality of universal peace and harmony takes on a strange remoteness. It is a mighty large task that confronts us as individuals. It is a terrific challenge for mankind. The rapid strides of science with its technological advances have forced us as individuals to think differently; at least, we should be thinking in modern terms instead of the narrow, prescribed boundaries which fenced in our forefather's scope of knowledge.

To acquire any semblance of "One Worldness," the task must begin with the individual. His thinking and his influence upon his family and neighbors and community is something near at hand. That small influence becomes great as its goodness expands.

If you readers are still with me, I'd like to explain that I am writing this column after giving much thought about Northfield and its needs. I purport to write about Our Town as I see it — and through the eyes of one, whom you have elected to the Town Recreation Building and World War Memorial School Building Committees. I alone am accountable for what I shall write. If at any time, anyone should take exception to what I have to say; especially, any member of the above-mentioned committees, where it may be believed that I have over-stepped my bounds, please feel free to bring up the matter to me personally or air your objections before the community at large by writing to the Editor of the Press.

Progress is a slow procedure, but the wheels of justice grind slowly! The recent editions of the Northfield Press have set what might be considered a new precedent. There is more local news; real community news! Committees that were elected at the annual town meeting are actually functioning and giving full reports to the people!

Mrs. Edward C. Benney and her Swimming Pool Committee have brought in a splendid report. They should be congratulated on their unstinting efforts, as should Jack McNeil, who so kindly gave of his services. Now it is up to the community and YOU as an individual to thoroughly consider those findings and to decide what should be done about such a community project. Our Town needs a swimming pool! Our Town needs a good recreation area! What could be finer than to combine those two needs in developing a Northfield War Memorial?

Think about it! Talk about it! Then take the time to send in the coupon appearing on Page 5 of the May 15th edition of the Northfield Press to register your opinion.

May I ask you a personal question? Are you doing YOUR share?

Mott P. Gubae

(ED. NOTE: A coupon appears in this issue of the PRESS for those wishing to make known their wishes concerning the swimming pool.)

SHORT STORY

Magic Month

By DYER WILSON

HELEN AND ANDY weren't laughing. They were sitting in metal chairs which were placed at right angles to each other, instead of side by side on the glider, and the glow in their eyes was replaced by anger.

"The trouble is you have no ambition!" Helen was saying as her wide set gray eyes flashed signals. "You act lazy!" The long curls were given a toss as she got to her feet.

Andy got up too. He gave her the one sided smile he'd brought home from war with him and shrugged his heavy shoulders. Andy had blond curls, too—tight to his well shaped head and the merriest of hazel eyes. "You can say that again," he told Helen. "I act lazy, do I?" He thought: Well, that's that and I'll re-enlist and get as far from Hyville as possible.

When he got home the radio was playing live and he wound one leg over the chair beside it. His mother came into the room and said, "aren't you going to look for a job today, son?"

As he worried for an answer the announcer interrupted the program to tell about a soap contest. "Five hundred dollars for first prize," he said, "just tell in twenty-five words why you like Sudzy-Soap best!"

"I'm trying to think up an entry for the contest, Mom," said Andy directing his hazel eyes up and grinning like an imp, "only I'll have to have the wrappers from three bars of the darned soap."

Andy Tyson tried not to understand that she inferred he had wasted too many afternoons. He made great work of wording his entry and addressed the envelope for mailing.

Habit turned his steps into the corner store where the fellows laughed and teased him about his entry. Half angry again he hurried out of the place and tossed the letter into the nearest mailbox.

In the three weeks that went by he didn't go near Helen nor did he look for a job. One day slipped into the next and a lassness seemed to hold him tight. He was marking time and getting more dissatisfied with every passing hour.

THE NIGHT, a day later, when he got home to find excitement in the very air and Mom holding out a telegram he ripped it open and nearly passed out. SUDZY-SOAP IS PROUD TO ANNOUNCE YOU WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE. STOP. LISTEN TO USAL SATURDAY PROGRAM. STOP. CONGRATULATIONS.

Next day Andy got a job. It was really easy. He felt so good — so proud of himself and ready for anything that came along he just went right after the mechanics job he saw advertised in the morning paper.

Saturday night the whole family gathered for the radio program telling of the contest and the winners.

He ripped the telegram open and nearly passed out. "But I didn't win," Andy said helplessly when the program was over. "They didn't mention my name and that Robert Amherst won the five hundred dollars."

The door bell interrupted Andy and when the messenger boy gave him a telegram he glanced at it and ripped it open. "HOW DID IT FEEL TO BE A PRIZE WINNER FOR A FEW DAYS? STOP. THE BOYS."

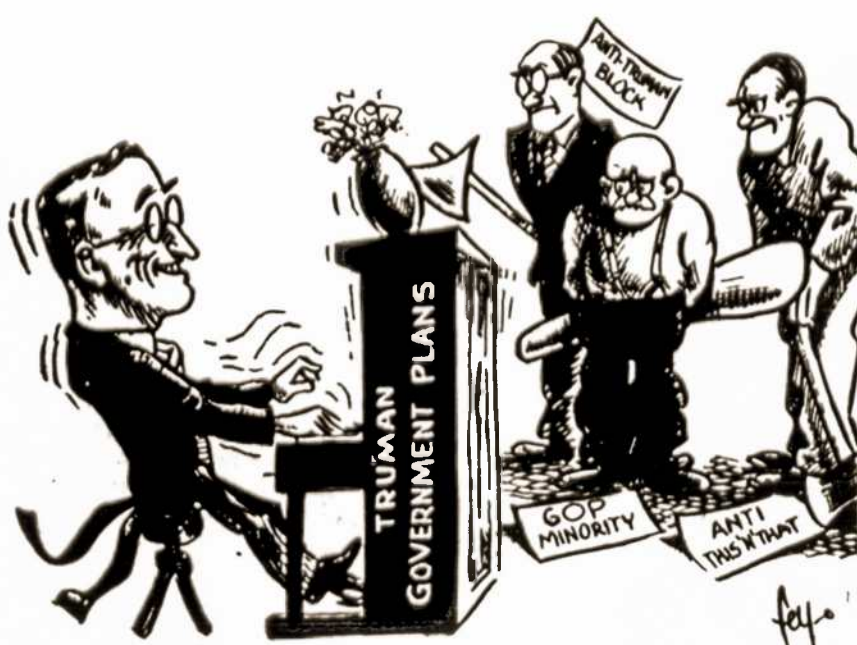

Andy was half way out the door when Helen caught up with him, "where you going?" she asked. "I'll bust those guys in the nose," Andy cried, "of all the dirty, low down tricks."

Helen laughed as she read the telegram. Tears rolled down her lovely cheeks and still she laughed. Andy couldn't help laughing with her.

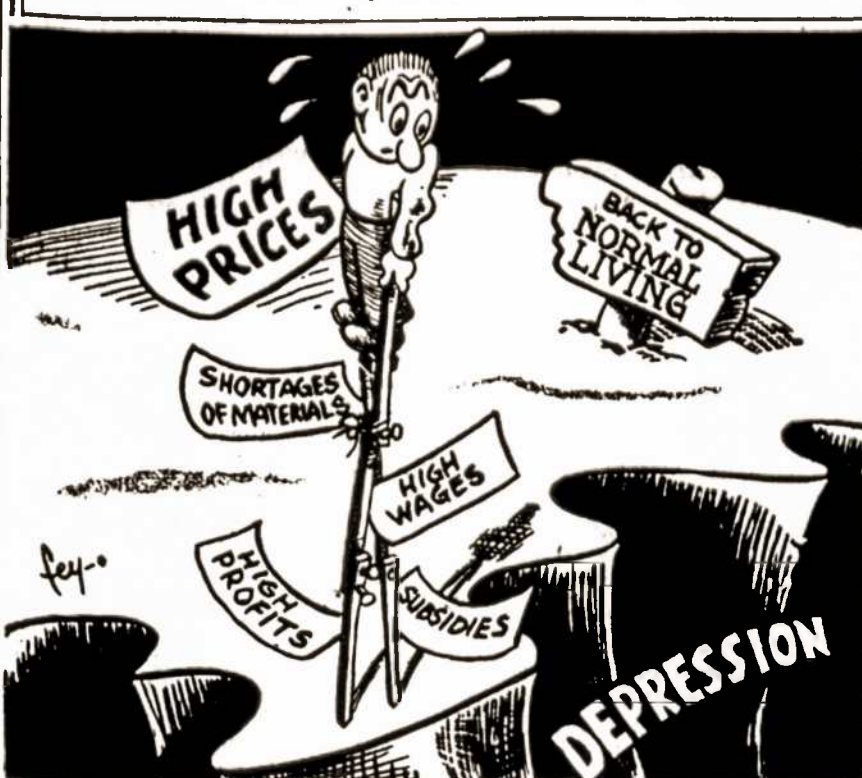

"If they hadn't done it we'd still be angry with each other," she pointed out, "and you wouldn't have your job—and we wouldn't be planning on getting married."

TRIBUTE

Bruce Adell Crowell

AND DAVID, AFTER HE HAD SERVED HIS OWN GENERATION - FELL ON SLEEP - AGE 13 '36

NO finer tribute ever could be given Than that brief simple utterance of praise. God asks no greater service than this leave To raise the standard of men's earthly days. David, the king, "had served his generation" — Straightforward words that shine in his behalf. More challenging in their adulation Than any chiseled marble epitaph.

To serve one's generation, to be giving New strength and courage to one's fellow-man. To tread life's highroad bravely, ever living With one clear purpose, one exalted plan. Will rear for any man a shaft so high Its climbing peak will reach and pierce the sky.

SHORT STORY

Julie Was Nineteen

By
Lilliane M. Mitchell

TO SAY that Julie was sorely disappointed when a very plump woman sank into the front seat beside her on the bus would be only part truth. Julie was mad clear through. Especially so since a whole string of slim, dark young men filed on the bus with that careless ease of men who know how to go places. Julie thought that she counted eighteen of these young men but the plump woman remarked pleasantly as Julie craned her neck, "You don't need to move, my dear. I don't mind in the least having someone in the seat next to me. I always reserve this front seat so's I can see where the bus is going. I feel almost as if I'm driving myself."

The last young man was swinging into the bus now and he paused before the plump woman. Poking her amiably on the shoulder he said firmly, "I want two chicken legs for dinner, see? I gotta eat, understand me—I'm on no diet! I want mushroom sauce, too!"

"Oh, you do, do you?" said the plump woman cheerfully. "Seat along to your seat and eat what I put before you! I may even give you liver and bacon if I feel like it."

Behind her, Julie could hear one of the young men singing in low tones. His seatmate joined in presently and they appeared to be singing a part-song. Julie turned restlessly. She knew the song well. There were three notes wrong.

Suddenly, she found herself humming the melody properly.

"SING it for them, my dear," urged the plump woman.

"They're not getting fresh. They're my boys."

"Your boys! Not all eighteen of them?" asked Julie in horror.

The woman laughed comfortably. "Well, the one who stopped to talk is mine. He's the leader of the orchestra. But the others have all been with us a long time and they're all A-1 fellows. They've put the music with the luggage and they won't have much time to rehearse when we get there. They'll all give me a hand with the cooking."

"Maybe when they get going, they can hire a dietician," said Julie gently.

"Bless your heart, Jon makes three thousand a week clear," she said in her pleasant fashion. "Sing the song for them, dearie."

Julie half turned in her seat and with blushing cheeks sang the melody in low, clear notes. The others in the bus joined in. The one called Jon came to stand beside his mother's chair.

"If you had a wardrobe — and wanted a job—I could put you on

"Hey, sing it again, will you?" said one of the young men.

tonight," he told Julie. "Just before we started I had a telegram from our soloist and she's in some hospital with tonsillitis. Bad luck for her but she can't sing for months. Well, do you want the job?"

"I have an amethyst strapless chignon," Julie told him. Jon turned questioning eyes to his mother. "The silver drop behind her, Mom?"

His mother nodded. "You didn't mention the salary to her, Son."

"We'll say a hundred a week to start. Jon Gardner's Swing Orchestra is the name—in case you don't know."

"You—why, you're on the radio, too," said Julie.

"Oh, yes, but we'll add your share of the radio proceeds. We have a profit-sharing stunt amongst ourselves on that," said Jon Gardner casually.

And Julie, looking up at him, dropped her eyes. She didn't want to acknowledge so soon just how much she liked him—now! And even at this moment she could imagine Joe's shining eyes and his "Aw-gee Stai" when he learned that she was to be the soloist with Jon Gardner's Swing Orchestra. In a fashion Jon reminded her of her brother, Joe. When a girl of nineteen goes maternal, she is falling in love.

Julie was nineteen.

Soybeans Cut HCL

The food shortage can be eased and living costs cut down by eating soybeans instead of more expensive foods, says Archibald Shamel, University of California citrus experiment station scientist. He advocates them as a protein and bread substitute. Shamel, a retired official of the federal agricultural department, played a large part in introducing hybrid corn.

Little Tail History

The word "pencil" originally meant a small, fine-pointed brush used in painting. The finer camel's hair and sable brushes used by artists still are called "pencils," and the word is derived from a Latin term meaning "little tail."

Meat Substitutes

Milk and eggs supply amino acids in even better amounts than does muscle meat, take less grain to produce, and contain certain food values not contributed by meat. Heart, muscle and other glandular or so-called variety cuts of meat also are superior to muscle meat in amino acids and often are available for less money.

Better Care, Feeding
Increase Hog Profits
Improved Rations and Cleanliness Stressed

Extra care for the brood sow and her litter, with emphasis on cleanliness and better feeding, will assure extra profits whether the herd includes one sow or a hundred.

Proof of that assertion is contained in the experience of Joseph O'Bryan of Hlatville, Kas., nationally-known breeder and exhibitor of purebred Hampshires, who raises about 3,000 hogs a year, most of them for market.

Although O'Bryan raises hogs on a wholesale scale, he keeps his operation on an individual farm basis as a means of insuring proper care. A program of better care and better feeding for sows and their litters, introduced on his farms in the fall of 1947, already has paid dividends, O'Bryan reports. With 100 litters last spring, he raised as much pork as he formerly raised from 150.

Early in the gestation period sows were given a special ration of 80 per cent oats, 5 per cent meat scrap, 4 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance either corn or wheat. Sows were sprayed and washed thoroughly prior to farrowing. Clean pens and a brooder for the little pigs also were provided. The sow's ration was changed when the pigs were about two weeks old, cutting down oats to about 40 per cent and increasing portions of wheat or corn.

At less than two weeks of age little pigs were started creep feeding in a low pan or trough. Their ration consisted of 80 per cent oats, 4 per cent meat scrap, 8 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance coarse wheat. Pans and troughs were washed and disinfected regularly. As the little pigs grow, oats in the ration is reduced while corn or wheat is increased to about 70 to 80 per cent.

Summarizing the program, O'Bryan maintains that he had much stronger pigs at birth, with earlier, faster and cheaper gains and a marked reduction in mortality.

Dunham Bros. Co., located at 135-137 Main St., in the HEART OF BRATTLEBORO, is a Brattleboro Institute and a landmark in the eye of the community and its surrounding trading area. The name of this firm through 65 years has become a household word in many homes when thought is given to the purchase of QUALITY NATIONALLY ACCEPTED footwear for all members of the family.

At Dunham Bros., proper fitting style, and moderate price is the rule. The policy of this modern type family shoe store is to furnish the public with shoes of the highest quality and the lines handled by the ever progressive management are those lines NATIONALLY ADVERTISED . . . NAT-IONALLY SOLD and NATIONALLY PRICED. In looking through BETTER publications one will note their lines.

Reputable manufacturers are most exacting in letting out their distribution to reliable dealers and it is with pardonable pride that Dunham Bros., were selected a number of years ago as the exclusive agents for the "Ball Band" products throughout New England and Greater New York. In serving the wholesale and retail trade through the years this firm has always adhered to the soundest business principles and this is best evidenced by the fact that today Dunham Bros. holds high rank in their respective line.

A special feature at this establishment is their BARGAIN BASEMENT. Residents of Brattleboro and vicinity are most appreciative for this department. In the well-arranged stock in the BARGAIN BASEMENT will be found odd sizes, salesman samples, discontinued styles, and as is the custom at Dunham's attractive buys in their periodical clearance sales.

The personnel of this store is composed of: Mr. Lyndon L. Dunham, President; John L. Dunham, Vice-President and Treasurer; George D. Mason, Secretary, and Thomas F. Tier, retail store manager.

Bird Banding

Bird banding has solved the riddle of where most birds winter. Many stop during the cold weather, in southern United States; other species stop in Central America; and yet others fly far south of the equator, spending their winters in Central South America.

Choosing A Pillow

An uncomfortable pillow can ruin sleep. Pillow puncher should try experimenting with fat soft ones, plump firm ones, thin soft ones or thin firm ones until finding one that suits. The "fit" of sleep equipment is just as important as the "fit" of shoes.

Cut Flowers

After cutting fresh flowers from the garden, place in water almost to the blossoms. Insert scissors under water and cut off a small portion of the stem. Keep stems under water until flowers become turgid and stand up well for artistic arranging.

INFORMATION for VETERANS Questions - Answers

Q.—I am a veteran of World War II and have a bad conduct discharge which is neither honorable nor dishonorable, but VA has denied me compensation because of it. Isn't VA bound by the character of discharge given me by the Army?

A.—No. Under existing law, to be entitled to benefit under laws administered by VA, a World War II veteran must have been discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable. Where the discharge, as in your case, is neither honorable or dishonorable, the VA must make a determination as to whether it is under other than dishonorable conditions.

Q.—I am considered totally disabled for insurance purposes but receive only 20 percent for disability compensation payments. Can my award be increased?

A.—Your award can be increased only if the service-connected disability is shown to have increased in severity. For insurance purposes, there may be other disabilities, not service-connected, which when combined with your service-connected condition, produce total disability.

Q.—Must all my answers to reopen my claim before VA be notarized?

A.—Yes, if it is submitted on the subject of service-connection. Statements from physicians, submitted for the purpose of determining whether a physical examination should be requested, need not be notarized.

Q.—Would the amount of compensation I receive from VA be affected if I served overseas?

A.—The amount of compensation payable is based on the degree of disability and not on place of service.

Veterans and their dependents who desire information concerning their benefits and entitlements are invited to send inquiries to this newspaper. Their questions and the answers will be published in this column.

Baseball ROUNDUP

Northfield May Join Tri-County League

There will be a baseball practice this Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. Everyone is invited to come to this practice as plans are being made to join what is known as the tri-county league which is composed of Hinsdale, Chesterfield, Brattleboro, and other towns within a fifteen mile radius. This league is not as fast as the FCC league but in as much as Northfield dropped out of the FCC league it could easily join this one.

It is hoped that all the high school and Mt. Hermon day students will show up as this league would be of great benefit to them so that next year Northfield could go back into the FCC league but until some of the younger ball players get more experience it would be unwise to enter such a fast league as the FCC is this year. The tri-county league is not as particular as the FCC as to player lists, forfeits, etc. and it seems as though it is just what Northfield needs for 1949.

Time is short so this Sunday afternoon will decide for sure as to whether Northfield plays or quits for the year.

Everyone of the fellows who had uniforms last year are requested to wear or bring them to practice.

Blue Jays To Open Season

Coach "Chick" Caron of the West Northfield Blue Jays has announced his opening game for Memorial Day at 2 p. m., at their home field on the Mt. Hermon road in West Northfield.

The Blue Jays will play their arch rivals the Vernon Town Team on inaugural day.

Caron has assembled a veteran team, with a sprinkling of newcomers, and with a year of competition under their belts they will certainly give the fans a run for their money with a smart fast club.

A strong five man mound staff forms the backbone of the nine, with Ralph Lyons, Charlie Randall, Bing Randall, Junie Dunnell and Roger Bassett doing the hurling. Charlie Randall is the southpaw of the staff, with Bassett scheduled to join the team after the local high school team ends the season.

First base will be held down by Gramp Randall, with rookie Tommy Johnson understudying. Roger Gould will be on the keystone sack, with Henry Martineau operating at shortstop. Roger Bassett will help out in the infield. Nell Churchill will cavort at the hot corner. Johnny Lukow and Layton Lane will patrol the pasture with the pitchers helping out when not on the mound, with David Stacy and Johnny Randall rounding out the squad as utility outfielders.

Opening day ceremonies will include the drawing for three prizes: a $50 War Bond, a way RCA Portable Radio and a slt-bamboo fishing rod.

Finishing touches will be put on the playing field, and players benches will be completed for the opening day. Plans are under way for the erection of bleachers in the near future.
